

MRS. STOKES OFFERS APOLOGY THAT ENDS CHAUFFEUR SQUABBLE

Millionaire Husband, It Appears, Ordered Car Taken to Garage.

The chauffeur and the lady fair met face to face in Magistrate Butt's Court today, the former at the legal behest of the latter, the charge being grand larceny in that the chauffeur did fail to respond to the lady's request that he take her for a ride in an automobile owned by the fair lady's husband. After much apologies and explanations, with the chauffeur the silent party, the chauffeur was discharged by the Court, the main feature of the explanation being that the chauffeur had directions from his master, the fair lady's husband, for the course he pursued.

Thus was ended to-day the promised session which gave rise to the squabble between Mrs. W. D. Stokes and Wellington Coleman, her husband's favorite chauffeur, arrested last night on the charge of removing the millionaire's favorite auto from a garage to the keen disappointment of Mrs. Stokes, and also to the face of her specific directions to Mr. Coleman that he produce the car in front of the Hotel Ansonia that Mrs. Stokes might enjoy a ride in the evening air.

In court to-day Mrs. Stokes asked that she be permitted to withdraw the charge. The Court refused assent. Then Dr. C. O. Moore, who said he was interested in automobiles at No. 104 West Sixty-second street, became a witness and swore that Mr. Stokes's car was brought to his garage by the chauffeur early last evening under "special rush" orders from Mr. Stokes, who in Kentucky recovering his nerves after the shock of seeing this same Coleman run down and seriously injure fifteen-year-old Alma Benson, in Broadway, more than a week ago. He told the Court that a misunderstanding had occasioned the arrest of the chauffeur.

Then Mrs. Stokes, gowned in simple finery and concealing her regrets as much as possible under the wide-spreading brim of a great straw hat, said that as a matter of fact she could not have dismissed the chauffeur as he had been discharged, she was told, some days ago. She said he produced a night telegram from Mr. Stokes, telling the chauffeur to see that the car was taken to the Moore garage for repairs. All these things Mrs. Stokes said she knew better to-day than yesterday, and asked that a simple apology be sufficient to end the incident. The chauffeur jumped with alacrity to such a solution and the Court finally consented that it should end thus.

DROWNS AS 16 LOOK ON AT LIFE SAVING STATION.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 10.—Sixteen persons, of whom fifteen were Government employees, the police were told to-day, stood by and watched William Sherman, forty years old, drown last evening. The fatality occurred at Charlotte, in the shade of the U. S. Life Saving Station, Sherman was swimming in Lake Ontario when he sank, and although near a dock, it is claimed, no one went into the water in an attempt to rescue him. It is said for the Government men that none of them knew the swimmer was in distress and in peril of drowning.

SHOT IN STREET FIGHT, HE SHIELDS ASSAILANT.

"John Smith" Pleaded Like an Eddytte That Even Bullet Was Merely an "Error."

Seeing a man limping painfully between two others on First avenue about 3 o'clock this morning, Patrolman Rosenstock remarked to him, "Why, you're pretty lame; anything happened?" "No," replied the man, "I'm all right; I'm not lame." But Rosenstock saw blood trickling down the man's trousers. "It isn't blood," said the man, "it's only perspiration due to the heat." Rosenstock took the man to the Fifth street station. As Dr. Russell of Bellevue Hospital, probing a pistol wound in his leg, found a bullet, the man said: "Oh, no, doctor; that can't be a bullet. It's only a scratch from a loose tack in a trolley-car seat."

The man described himself as John Smith, twenty-two, a driver, of No. 317 West Sixteenth street, and was taken a prisoner to Bellevue. Rosenberg afterward learned there had been some pistol shooting between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets on First avenue, but Smith denied knowing anything about it.

You can select from four dozen patterns without doubling on colors or designs in any one. The fabrics comprise Pongee Weaves, with Printed Stripes; Corded Madras, with Printed Stripes; Jacquard Woven Figured Madras, Woven Madras, Crepe Madras.

All cut coat-style, with laundered neckbands and French cuffs. A few hundred added from regular stock have laundered cuffs. Sizes 14 to 18. Sleeve lengths 33, 34 and 35 inches.

The refinement of the silk itself is reflected in the patterns—delicate single and cluster-stripes in light blue, tan, helio, and black. Plain white also. Made coat style, with French negligee cuffs. In sizes 14 to 17.
